Homeland Security Contracting Forum

Wednesday, June 14, 2006

John A. Logan College
Conference Center, Room 104
700 Logan College Road
Carterville, IL

College of DuPage Homeland Security Procurement Technical Assistance Center (HS PTAC) and the John A. Logan College Procurement Technical Assistance Center (PTAC) with the Homeland Security Market Development Bureau present this half-day conference of up-to-date practical information on Homeland Security Contracting.

Homeland Security is currently a $45 billion industry that is still growing. Twenty-three percent of federal contracts are identified for small business. The State of Illinois is well positioned to take a leadership role in growing and defining the Homeland Security industry, and this conference will help you develop the knowledge and skills needed to identify and navigate the opportunities.

Objectives

- Discuss current state procurement systems.
- Find out how to do business with the federal Department of Homeland Security.
- Obtain principles of GSA Schedule contracting and how to respond to a GSA solicitation.
- Learn about financing choices for government contracts.

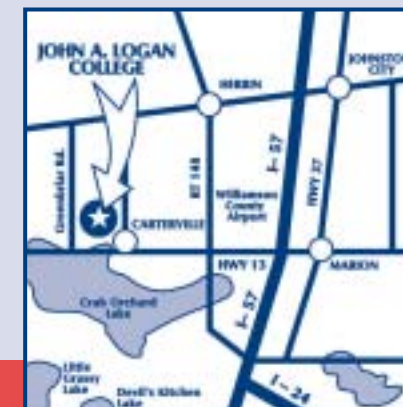

Who Should Attend

This conference has been designed with small- to medium-sized businesses in mind. If you feel there is not enough time in the day to explore your business development options, come spend a day with us and receive practical information that can be applied immediately.
